BOUND FOR GEORGIA.

Woman and Her Babe Wern't Put Off, But the Good Old Black "Uncle" May Still Be Walking.

From the New York Times.

AS THE 7:40 train began to pull away from the Alexandria station an old, white-haired negro hurried across the platform and swung himself on the rear car. He was very black and very dusty, and the single occupants of seats looked a little apprehensive as he shuffled diffidently through the car, but he did not offer to sit down. When he reached the opposite end he took hold of a seat to steady himself and gazed around curiously, his big, wondering eyes roving from one face to another with the eager scrutiny of a child.

Evidently he was very tired, for his shoulders began to slope, and every few minutes he shifted his feet as though they hurt him. At last a young man lowered his newspaper. "Here is a seat, uncle," he called; "you look tired."

The negro shuffled forward eagerly. "Yes, sah! 'tank yo' sah!" he said, gratefully, as he sank down. "I's plumb beat. Done walk mon's 'roun' long way dis yor mawnin'. Yo' see," as the young man folded his newspaper and slipped it into his pocket, "Marse Henry an' me lib ober in Prince George county, an' larst week Marse Henry he up an' die. Dat lef me by myse'f."

"I see, and you are going south to look for work?" "No, sah; goin' back home—goin' back to ole Georgy." Into his eyes came a look of eager expectation, and he stroked the back of the seat softly, as though it were his old home in far away Georgia.

"I ain' been dar in mos' thutty year," he went on, slowly; not sence de Linkum men tuk we all's niggers. Dar was a whole passel uv 'em, but dey all done bruk away. Den de sheriff sol' de plantation, an' dar wa'nt nutten lef we all but de norf. We's bleeged to hab money ter lib."

"And you stuck to Marse Henry?"

The old negro looked at him in surprise. "Ob co'se!" he answered, simply. "I's de body sarbent, an' Marse Henry couldn' git 'long 'thout me. He's a gen'loman an' 'pended on bein' tuk car' ob. But I's bleeged ter be 'way in de day-time, case I's a carpenter an' allers hab plenty wuk."

"What did Marse Henry do?"

"Marse Henry!" indignantly; "w'y, he's gen'loman, I tells yo'. He ain' do nutten. He ain' neber learn do t'ings like common wite fo'ks. He hab niggers fer dat."

"You don't mean that you have supported him ever since the war?" The old negro drew himself up with unconscious dignity.

"You goin' ta'k like dat, I ain' got nutten mo' to spain."

"I beg your pardon," said the young man, hastily; "please go on."

The black face relaxed. "Yo' ain' know Marse Henry," commiseratingly; "so yo' don' un- stan'. Ob co'se I wuk fer him. He car' fer me befo' de war, did'n he? What nigger good fer but wuk, I like ter know."

The young man produced his and held it in readiness. The negro fumbled anxiously through several pockets, and finally remembered that he had pinned his to his hat lining.

"Hit dun tuk ebery cent I cud scrape up ter buy dat," he said, triumphantly, as he produced it. "But dat's all r'ight. I ken wuk, an' fo'ks don' need money w'en deys home. Money's fer trabblin'."

In the seat behind them was a shabbily dressed woman whose face had an anxious, frightened expression. Crowded on the seat beside her were several bundles, and in her arms was a white-faced, big-eyed baby. When the conductor touched her shoulder she started uneasily.

"Ticket, please."

A red flush of shame spread over the woman's face; then it faded, leaving her white and dogged.

"I haven't any."

"Very well. If you get off at the next station it will save us the trouble of putting you off," and he turned to the opposite seat.

The woman's eyes grew big with terror as she sprang up and caught him by the arm.

"Don't do that, sir! Don't put me off!" she implored, hoarsely. "I've got to go. My husband has written for me to come. He's—he's dying," and a great sob rose to her white lips, but was resolutely choked back. "I tried to raise money," lowering her voice so the other passengers could not hear, "but couldn't. We sold everything we had so he could go south, as the doctor ordered. And now he's—he's—" She turned from him and sank weakly into her seat. The conductor shook his head.

"I'm sorry, madam," he said, kindly, "but we have only one rule. You must pay or get off. I can't risk breaking the rules. Ticket, please."

The old negro rose slowly to his feet.

"I's feared yo'll hab ter put me off, too, boss," he said, humbly. "Hit's mon's'ous hard wuk fer pore nigger lak me ter rise money fer ticket."

"Off at the next station," broke in the conductor, harshly. "We'll be there in a minute. If it was not so near I'd slow the train and put you off. This poor woman has some excuse, but you—bah!" The young man was about to make a protest, but something in the old negro's face restrained him.

Before the conductor reached the end of the car the speed began to slacken. The old negro rose and turned to his companion.

"Reckon I better be leavin'," he said. "Tank yer fer dem san'-wiches, an' I hope'll 'member me kin'ly. Here, missy," to the woman, who was gazing stonily from the window, and dropping his ticket into her lap, "here's yo' ticket. I reckon yo' dun drap hit. I hope yo' fin' dat husban' ain' so bad as yer 'tink," and before she could recover from her bewilderment he had left the car and was shuffling down the platform. The young man half rose to call him back; then a remembrance of his own resources, or perhaps of some one waiting for him, caused him to sink back on his seat and stare blankly at the window. As the train moved out he saw the old negro trudging along beside the track, evidently still bound for Georgia.

New Star Route Needed.

The irregularity of the mails more than any thing else prompts us to point to the fact that a petition should be circulated and presented to the postoffice department for a semi-daily mail between Hazel Green and Heleehawa. The Ohio and Kentucky railroad now carries the mail for all points between Jackson and Cannel City, and if our mail should come that way—the mail from points at a distance—we would receive it with greater regularity, anyhow. Mail could leave here in the morning and connect with the O. & K. train going west, and returning bring all mail from Cannel City and points east of Heleehawa. Again it could meet the train from Jackson in the evening and bring all mail from Lexington, Louisville, Cincinnati, etc. Except to insure regularity it would not help us materially, though it would correct some evils aside from that. For instance, a letter to Neola (Heleehawa), under the present arrangement must go from here to Torrent, thence to Jackson and over the O. & K. to Neola. The distance is only five miles and yet all going "around Robin Hood's barn" to reach its destination. If such a route were established it would also enable us to have an express office here, as the mail contractor could afford to carry express. In fact it would largely increase his per diem, and he could pick up passengers both going and coming.

HOUSEWORK

Too much housework wrecks women's nerves. And the constant care of children, day and night, is often too trying for even a strong woman. A haggard face tells the story of the overworked housewife and mother. Deranged nenses, leucorrhoea and falling of the womb result from overwork. Every housewife needs a remedy to regulate her nenses and to keep her sensitive female organs in perfect condition.

WINE OF CARDUI

is doing this for thousands of American women to-day. It cures Mrs. Jones and that is why she writes this frank letter:

Glendene, Ky., Feb. 10, 1902.
I am so glad that your Wine of Cardui is helping me. I am feeling better than I have felt for years. I am doing my own work without any help, and I washed last week and was not one bit tired. That shows that the Wine is doing me good. I am getting fresher than I ever was before, and sleep good and eat hearty. Before I began taking Wine of Cardui, I used to have to lay down five or six times every day, but now I do not think of lying down through the day.

The Old Town's Troubles.

The municipal tangle in Lexington had another knot tied in it last week. Two officials with claims aggregating $1,700 recently had their claims ordered paid. C. B. Lowry a republican-democrat and reformer, tried to block the payment of the claims. Five minutes before he filed his motion the city officials cashed their claims. Lowry is caught for the costs, &c. He threatens to go further, however, and make the men pay back the money. It means more litigation, and as a matter of fact half the city is in litigation one way or the other.

"About a year ago my hair was coming out very fast, so I bought a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor. It stopped the falling and made my hair grow very rapidly, until now it is 45 inches in length."—Mrs. A. Boydston, Atchison, Kans.

There's another hunger than that of the stomach. Hungry hair needs food, needs hair vigor—Ayer's. This is why we say that Ayer's Hair Vigor always restores color, and makes the hair grow long and heavy. $1.00 a bottle. All druggists.

Asked Wife to See Him Die.

Because his wife refused to let him read a letter she had received, from B. S. Kincart, superintendent of Lebanon Light Co., Lebanon, Ky., dramatically said to her that he would end all. He then invited her into the front room of the house to see the deed done, but she politely declined the invitation.

A few moments later four shots rang out, and when the family rushed to the scene they found Mr. Kincart lying on the floor apparently in great agony. Several physicians were hurriedly summoned and an examination disclosed that he had been struck by only one bullet, which had done nothing more than give him a slight wound in the arm.

Hot Weather Cookery.

Croquettes and patties form an important division in the class of dishes known as entrees, and the list is nearly interminable. An excellent article on this subject in the August Delineator will prove useful to housewives in its general instructions and its tested recipes. In addition will be found a variety of cold dishes for summer, and a useful article on the possibilities of apricots, and two illustrated pages of a temptingly cool dinner for hot weather.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

County Conventions at County Seats on July 19th, 1902. District Convention, at West Liberty, Ky., July 24th, 1902.

HOPKINS.—HON. F. A. HOPKINS, of Floyd county, is hereby announced as a candidate for the democratic nomination for congress from the Tenth district, subject to action of the democratic party.

DAVIS.—JUDGE AMOS DAVIS, of Morgan county, is hereby announced as a candidate for the democratic nomination for congress from the Tenth district, subject to action of the democratic party.

A RECENT issue of the Hlawatha (Kansas) Democrat contains a narrative of the arrest of one of our citizens who committed a felony in the grasshopper state in 1872 at Campton by Sheriff Hanks and a posse, which is so full of misstatement that we must correct some of them at least. Speaking of the route of the Kansas man, one Lawrence, who came here with requisition papers for the fugitive, the writer says that he had to follow a bridge path from Mt. Sterling in the absence of a plainer route, when everybody knows that a plain wagon road leading from that place to the Virginia line has been in existence for upward of 100 years. The writer intimates also that at that time a stranger was in danger of being killed in our county through mistake for a revenue officer, and because the people were blood thirsty. "Dump" Allen, who is now a good citizen of the west side of the county, is the subject of the sketch and he is spoken of as being at that time a desperado of the worst type. It may interest the writer of that article to know that Wolfe county is now one of the most lawabiding and civil in the commonwealth. There is not a drop of liquor sold legally in its limits and precious little illicitly.

The subscription of very many of our subscribers, is now due and quite a number expired months ago. The date shows the time paid to and in addition we have time and again crossed marked papers going to these same subscribers to show them their time is out. But they pay no attention and we suffer from their carelessness. Now, we must have the money due us on subscription and we must have it now. Paper, ink, labor—everything that goes to make a paper—costs money, and unless we can get money to meet these demands we must succumb. One dollar isn't much to you, but all of the "ones" due us just now make quite a sum, and we must have that at once. If you don't want the paper pay what you owe and then quit taking it. Don't take it for two or three months over time and then quit without paying. It is too small a thing for a man to be little about. But there are a great many small in this way—two small to be honest.

FOLLOWING in the wake of the Kansas paper with its mountain of misstatements, the Sunny South in its last issue gives an account of the Hargis-Cockrell feud in Breathitt, in which the late Ben Hargis is made the son of Jim Hargis, who was in fact a brother. THE HERALD can not possibly point out all these pennyliners who prevaricate about the people of the mountains, but it takes pleasure in nailing every lie its argus eye can see, and it admonishes these correspondents that they should stick to the truth.

EDITOR LYDDANE,

Of the Winchester Democrat, in a Letter From This Place, Has Handsome Things to Say About Hazel Green.

SWANGO SPRINGS, July 5, 1902.

Dear Democrat: For the first time in 18 years I have ventured to take a vacation and see if the world will revolve in its orbit, even if I quit work for a few days. I think we need to find out once in a while how little we really amount to, and how well the world can get along without us.

The people of the mountain section are evidently very patriotic if their patriotism may be measured by the zeal with which they attend Fourth of July picnics. As we approached Clay City, Friday, the coaches filled rapidly, and when we got there, a big crowd was present, and the picnic was an assured success, at least so far as numbers were concerned.

A large number stopped at Natural Bridge, where another picnic was under way. Joe Bruner, formerly of the Winchester police force, is the guardian of the peace at that point.

Others stopped at Torrent and picked there. At Jackson we found another in progress, and at Campton City there were two.

The train was late at Jackson and we had barely time to eat a hasty dinner and catch the train on the Ohio and Kentucky road. Can you tell me why it is that the smaller and more insignificant a railroad is, the bigger and more comprehensive its name? This little road extends from Jackson to Campton City, in Morgan county, and as a freight road it looks like a paying proposition; as a passenger road it is not a howling success. An irreverent passenger said recently that he liked the road because he could get out, walk on ahead and eat berries, until the train caught up, but that man probably never heard of Annanias. For some miles the road runs up Frozen Creek, but with the thermometer up in the nineties and the coach crowded, we were prepared to agree with old Governor Allan of Ohio, that a name is sometimes a "d—d barren idealism." The train was crowded, but everybody was in a good humor. Some of them were possessed of a capacity for drinking soda pop that was simply remarkable, and train "butcher" evidently reaped a harvest of nickels. The conductor on the O. & K. train was Will Bradshaw, formerly conductor with the L. & N., and who lived at Flanagan.

When I reached Heleehawa, (call it anything you please, as I have not yet heard any two persons pronounce it alike) I found myself five miles from the Springs, the thermometer at 94, and no means of conveyance. I walked to Neola postoffice a short distance away, when the genial postmaster, Jas. Wilson, kindly telephoned to Daysboro, three miles away, and procured a conveyance for me.

I spent several hours at Neola and while there had the pleasure of meeting that old democratic war-horse, W. H. Taulbee, formerly a state senator, and the father of ex-Congressman Pres Taulbee. He inquired of Judge Flanagan and other old friends in Winchester, and by his conversation, showed that he still keeps pace with the progress of events.

Crops of all kinds are looking splendidly and the people are in good spirits. The chestnut bloom is very heavy and promises the best crop in years. The same is true of acorns and other mast. The trouble is that there are very few hogs to eat. Cattle are also very scarce, the high price having caused nearly all the hogs and cattle to be sold.

This section would be an ideal one for the Methodist preacher. Large broiling and frying chickens can be bought anywhere for ten cents each from the farmers, and the dealers only ask $1.50 per dozen delivered on the cars. It seems that a trade in this section might be established between here and Winchester with results mutually satisfactory.

Swango Springs is a most pleasant place to spend a few weeks. The fare is the good old fashioned kind, plentiful and well cooked. The proprietor and his good wife make all feel at home. Quite a number are here from Sharpsburg, Mayslick, Carlisle and other places. The water is strongly impregnated with alum and iron, and it is said to be very efficacious. The flow is not strong and a barrel per day is probably the capacity of the spring.

Hazel Green is less than a mile distant and is a pleasant little town of several hundred people, including Spencer Cooper. He and his paper, THE HERALD, are just now the only exponents of gospel truth, as the three churches, Methodist, Presbyterian and Christian are all without pastors.

I am resting with all my might and am developing an immense capacity for Swango water and fried chicken, and expect to come home in a couple of weeks with all my clothes, except my hat, too small for me.—C. E. Lyddane in Winchester Democrat.

A Sad Suicide.

The news was telephoned here on Monday afternoon that Mrs. Adkins, living on the head of White Oak creek, in Morgan county, had committed suicide by hanging. The message was from Lee City and the request came to communicate with two sons of the lady who lived near Ezel, Martin and Benjamin Adkins, respectively. But later on it was discovered that the unfortunate lady has a son living near Hazel Green, Van Adkins who rents from E. F. Cecil. He was notified of the sad affair and at once hurried to town to ascertain its truth. THE HERALD man saw him but he was so nervous from the shock that no attempt was made to ascertain the age of Mrs. Adkins or the probable cause of her act.

LATER—Mrs. Adkins is not dead. Her husband discovered her and cut her down, and she is now in a fair way to recovery. Her son Van, who went to her as soon as he heard the news, tells us that for some time prior to her attempt at self destruction she had been temporarily deranged from nervous prostration and a spinal trouble, which became unbearable. She is 67 years of age and the mother of nine children, seven of whom are living, eight boys and one girl, all of whom are of age and married, and to them the news of her act was received as an electric shock. Mr. Adkins tells us that times since her attempt she has been cheerful and the physicians who were called diagnose that with care she will soon be herself again. It is a sad affair and Van Adkins, whom every body in this section likes, as well as the other brothers and the one sister, have the sympathy of all good people.

Tired Mothers.

It's hard work to take care of children and to cook, sweep, wash, sew and mend besides. Tired mothers should take Hood's Sarsaparilla—it refreshes the blood, improves the appetite, assures restful sleep.

God Surely Helped Her.

There has never been a series of sickness so long and serious in all my experience of more than 18 years' practice borne with so much patience as that of Ada Cecil, nor did I ever witness a death more calm and serene. It seemed that she lived in direct touch with the words of patient old Job, "Though he deny me yet will I trust in him," (Job 13-35.) The subject of this sketch united with the Methodist church when only 11 years of age, and in the year 1898 she professed sanctification, which she lived to the day of her death. Now to father, mother, brothers and sisters, friends—while you mourn her loss I have occasion to mourn with you, but we are not all those weeping. In the language of the poet:

"The air is full of farewells to the dying
And mourning for the dead;
The hearts of parents for their children dying,
And will not be comforted.

Let us be patient—these severe afflictions
Not from the ground arise;
But afflictions, celestial benedictions,
Assume this dark disguise.

In that great cloister's stillness,
By guardian angels led;
Safe from temptation, safe from sin's pollution,
She lives, whom we call dead.

Another hand is becoming us,
Another call is given;
And calls for us to follow in
The path that reaches heaven."
Hazel Green, Ky. DR. CENTER.

Saves a Woman's Life.

To have given up would have meant death for Mrs. Lois Cragg of Dorchester, Mass. For years she had endured untold misery from a severe lung trouble and obstinate cough. "Often," she writes, "I could scarcely breathe and sometimes could not speak. All doctors and remedies failed till I used Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption and was completely cured." Sufferers from coughs, colds, throat and lung trouble need this grand remedy, for it never disappoints. Cure is guaranteed and for sale by J. R. Day, Hazel Green, or S. S. Combs & Sons, Campton. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 11, 1902.

Dear Friend:—It is time to begin work in earnest for our State Convention which meets at Hopkinsville, August 19-20-21. I am happy to state that the railroads have granted one fare for the round trip.

Each school is entitled to one delegate for every 100 enrolled or fraction thereof and the county to ten at large.

Delegates will be entertained free. Sincerely,
E. A. Fox, Gen'l Sec'y.

COUNTY NEWS NOTES

To insure insertion ALL correspondence must be in this office by Monday night of each week, and that nearly on Monday morning.

Our correspondents are derelict in duty and we want to say that henceforth they will not receive papers except for the week they have news letters. We are dependent upon them for the news and when they fail to send in their favors they put us to great inconvenience.

SUNNY SIDE.
 The young folks of Hazel Green just swarmed out this way Sunday.

Miss Loula Taulbee of Daysboro was a pleasant visitor here Thursday.

Rev. John Brooks attended the quarterly meeting at Walnut Grove Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Newt Lacy, who has been visiting relatives on Grassy for several days, has returned home.

Mrs. Curtis Swango of Chambers station, who has been visiting her mother at this place for a week or ten days, returned home last Friday.

Misses Cora and Mary Brenne-man of the Heights, and Eva Gore, who is recuperating at the Swango Springs, gave us a pleasant call one day last week.

Edward Oney made a business trip to McCausey Friday, and returned with the two Misses Day, Pearl and Virginia, who have been off on a protracted visit.

Mrs. Oney of this place, in company with Mrs. F. N. Day of your town attended the quarterly meeting Sunday at Walnut Grove. Elder C. F. Oney did the preaching.

Ye scribe and brother together with many others, attended the social given by L. L. Craft and wife of your town last Friday night, and can vouch for the assertion, that all enjoyed the occasion.

William Cruzy of Lacy creek was on this side of the ridge Sunday, and he informed us that two of his daughters, Misses Monta and Nora would teach this year. The former on Frozen creek, Breathitt county, the latter on the head of Red river in this county.

July 15. SUSIE SUNBEAM.

LANE LILIES.
 "Gold Bug" was on Holly Sunday.

Florence Horton is unwell at this writing.

J. C. King was visiting at his brother William's Sunday.

Quite a crowd attended Sunday school and church at Elkins chapel Sunday.

Misses Zerilda and Martha Sewell made a business trip to Lee City Monday.

G. W. King bought of J. H. Sewell two head of yearling steers; price paid $30.

We are glad to note that John L. Sewell, one of our most popular "ladies men," is his original self again.

T. P. Sewell was calling on friends residing on an eastern tributary of the Spring branch Sunday.

Mrs. Gardner Vancleve and her daughter Ellen, visited relatives on Frozen creek the latter part of last week.

Mumps, measles and whooping-cough are rapidly dying away. Not so much sickness in the neighborhood as formerly.

Oat harvesting is the principal occupation of the laboring men at present. The oat crop is good, and we are having suitable weather in which to harvest them.

G. W. King was calling on Nancy Sewell Sunday. George is always a gentlemanly visitor, full of "jokes and fun," and we are always tickled to have him come.

G. W. Halsey of Campton was on this creek last week buying cattle. He bought of Jas. F. Sewell three head of three-year-old steers for $89.00; two head of three-year-old of Geo. S. Terrill for $55.

Dr. Whitt is still a sufferer of "sympathetic heart trouble." Jo, do an act of charity and let him have her back. Three others nearer just as deserving of your kind acts and lovable presence, and who would, no doubt, greet you with broad smiles.

A social was given at a near neighbors Friday night of last week, and all who participated in its proceedings enjoyed themselves immensely. No ruffians present; no drinking and no fighting, but the young lady in whose honor the social was given got an eye "blackened" accidentally. Doc, be more careful next time. That was a terrible blunder.

July 16. MIKE.

LEE CITY.
 Everything is quiet and lovely in our little town.

Mrs. J. R. Carroll is quite ill, but the doctor reports her some better.

James McGuire of Lane lost a bright 6-year-old boy today. Disease unknown.

The Cincinnati fall festival begins on September 15th, will end on the 27th.

The writer will attend a banquet at Lexington, Ky., on the 2nd of August.

Prayer meetings is the order of the day; Christian Endeavor Society is prospering.

John T. Graham will visit relations at Mt. Sterling the latter part of this month.

On the 19th of July the democratic convention will be held at Campton, and the 24th at West Liberty.

On the 28th of July, Wm. Combs of Jackson, Ky., will entertain his friends and relatives at a family reunion at his home in Jackson.

Miss Zerilda Sewell, daughter of Jas. Sewell of Lane, Ky., will teach music at Lee City. She is an excellent teacher and will begin teaching at once.

J. R. Terrill of this city has sold to Clay Rose his entire stock of merchandise. Terrill will in the future look out for bargains in oak and poplar timber.

A new post office will be established at once on the Frank Rose farm on Red river. The same will be called Rose Fork, which is already a very important station.

On last Tuesday night John R. Hobbs of Lane, Ky., had his house burned, including $300 worth of merchandise. The fire caught from a cook stove and burned at 10 o'clock.

On the 20th day of this month a party of boys and girls will leave Lee City and Hazel Green for Mt. Sterling, Ky., to attend the county fair, beginning on the 21st and lasting 5 days.

A. R. Graham has had a pleasant time during his vacation in business, but will regain his reputation as a merchant, and redeem the old firm and under the same sign, will continue to deal bargains to his customers and friends.

The growing crops at present appear flattering to the farmers of this country. More so than in the rich fields of the bluegrass accordingly. Oats develop the finest crops that has ever been known in all the past. Corn crops are looking most unusually prosperous; and lucky for our people more acreage in Wolfe county than ever known before. God is doing his part and we must do ours.

Clay Rose, the once professional gambler and liquor dealer, has lately professed religion and today is president of our Christian Endeavor Society; he has become permanent and is using his personal influence to convert his comrades in their sins and promote them into a higher and better class of society. Here is hoping that he will ever shine like stars of heaven before his comrades and family, and faithful to profession. This will please his many friends as well as the writer.

Ben F. Sewell of Campton, Ky., chief advisor for the republican tin-type institution, has been leaving moccasin signs behind him as he drives along our sandy roads, beside the rough and rugged shores of Holly, he has been strewing granulated sugar along the wayside for the weak-kneed democrats. He tells us, in soft words too, that he is our "people" and that he sympathizes with us, and is pulling for our weakest candidates. He is first for Amos Davis, second for Banford White; but he fights Frank Hopkins to a finish. And Bill Nigh has already smelt a mice, and comes warping everybody in this neck of the woods to looksharp, including the Campton Stamper who has traveled some with the distinguished gentleman, building his air and gas castles all under the ground. Mr. Stamper is a good man, but Friday was a good dog and only got into bad company.

WEST LIBERTY WISPS.
 Dr. W. L. Gevedon of Grassy creek filled the pulpit at Wells school house on Sunday.

Mrs. Harlen Conley of Cannel City is quite sick at her father's, J. B. Stamp, on Long branch.

Married, on Sunday, Frank Wells to Miss Mable Johnson, both of this place, Rev. S. J. Adams tying the knot.

Mrs. Emma Perry wife of John Perry, jr., of Pomp, Ky., is very low with measles and not expected to live.

The K. P. of this place, lodge No. 119, had a public installation of officers at the court house on Saturday.

Miss Hortenz Patrick and Miss May, daughter of Judge D. May of Salyersville, are guests of Mrs. John S. Carter of South Liberty this week.

News is hard to catch on the wing—the gossips have made a contract to tell their neighbors nothing. I wonder who they are, the men or women?

Ye scribe was present on Sunday afternoon at a musical which occurred at the home Dr. B. F. Carter, which for beauty "was hard to excel; the music was rich, the voices clear and each performer a star in the profession. Miss Leona Belle Carter was the chosen prima donna of the beautiful entertainment.

Quite a delightful surprise greeted the town on Saturday night when the newly organized band broke the stillness of the night with beautiful gems. Their selections were well received. I expect these sons of music will blow their bazooes every night until we are finally carried away in other realms. The band comprises 12 musicians, with Will Gevedon as leader.

CAMP CHRISTY.

Mrs. Florence Gosney is on the sick list this week.

John Kelly of Glencairn is cutting logs for Wm. Coff.

Frank Catron of Pomeroyton was in this part looking for a log job.

Tilden Back and wife were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cobb Sunday.

H. B. Crawford of Boxer was visiting his daughter, Mrs. Florence Gosney last week.

Bill Cobb returned back from home to this place Tuesday and reports a nice time on the 4th at McCausey.

John Brown of Spradling seems to be stuck on some of the fair sex very much, as he hasn't gone home for quite awhile.

We have a good Sunday school at this place every Sunday evening at 2 o'clock. One Mr. Barker of Morgan county superintendent.

Ben Gosney, who is logging for the Kentucky & McWeer Lumber Co., got one of his horse's leg broken last Thursday; had to kill him. He paid $85 for him just a few days ago.

Thos M. Tutt's funeral will be preached at the Bethel church Wolfe county on Sunday, July 20th, at 11 o'clock by Rev. N. G. Robinson of Myers, Nicholas county. Also two of John J. Tutt's children in the afternoon.

Your scribe, accompanied by John Gosney and John Brown, visited the flag knob; the highest in this country Sunday, and we had a nice view. We also killed a large copperhead measuring about 3 feet.

Your scribe has been reliably informed that John Gosney will soon start to practicing medicine under Dr. Cope, as he has been visiting the doctor pretty often. But my opinion is he wants one of the doctor's daughters.

LOCAL LACONICS.

Supt. J. W. Taulbee was in town Saturday on business.

C. C. Hanks went to Mt. Sterling last week on business.

Herbet Byrd, the youngest son of A. F. Byrd and wife is very ill.

Douglas Evans and J. C. Hurst took a delightful buggy ride Sunday last.

Col. Bob Athy and Capt. Kelly Fulks are developing into something bordering on musical wonders.

Next Saturday promises to be a gala day with our democratic brethren. The White, Davis and Hopkins men are on the hustle, and each side claims the best chances for the first instruction.

Ex-Jailer John R. Hobbs of Holly recently had the misfortune to get a house burned which contained goods to the value of from $200 to $300; no insurance. This is a considerable financial loss to a man not a Rockefeller in dollars.

The wife of Samuel P. Napier died at Lake City, Fla., on the 3rd instant, and was brought to this place and buried in the Napier cemetery on the 12th. S. P. Napier and family moved from this place to Lake City early last spring.

Ye editor is requested by "those in authority" to say to the overseers of the various roads of Wolfe county that in many places the roads are almost impassable, and if all such places are not speedily put in repair, they will be dealt with as the law directs. A hint to the wise is sufficient.

Dr. J. H. Stamper reports the following: Born, to the wife of J. M. Reynolds July 9th, a fine boy. Gilly Ann Buchanan, wife of G. W. Buchanan, who has been near death door for the last 10 days with fever, is now convalescing nicely. David Rose, sr., of Stillwater, is very ill. Chances of recovery against him.

The funeral of Thomas M. Tutt, son of Rev. J. J. Tutt, who died a little over one year ago, will be preached next Sunday at Bethel church, near Spradling, by Rev. Nate Robinson and others. A large audience is anticipated as the deceased was well known and highly respected and has an almost innumerable host of relatives in this and other counties. Fine music will be furnished.

Courtney F. Combs, commander-in-chief; M. F. Horton, as teller-of-right-signs; Isaac W. Combs, as fish-frier; I. R. Hollon, as judge-of-good-water; Cud Horton, as digger-of-baits, and Miles Tolson, as di-dapper-diver, have organized themselves into what is known as the "Campton Sporting Club," and last week sallied forth to the mouth of Cedar on the Kentucky river to catch fish. Previous to their going, M. F. Horton, teller of right signs, notified each and every one of the club that the "sign was just right to catch fish to let." The sports report a fine time and lots of fish caught. The club will meet at an early date for the purpose of considering the advisability of electing G. B. Stamper "cradler-of-oats," and Benj. Sewell "feeder-of-horses."
